A366 2007d OCLC Number: (OCoLC)427642830 Subject: Meat -- Contamination -- United States. Excerpt: . . . 11 We have already made progress in getting recalls done more rapidly. As a result of the lessons learned from the Topps Meat company recall, FSIS now takes into account a broader, more complete range of evidence when evaluating whether to seek a recall or whether to take regulatory action. This gives the agency a credible approach to more rapidly taking action when certain types of evidence are available. In two recent cases, FSIS acted upon epidemiological evidence that linked illness to opened, FSIS-inspected product found in consumers freezers, where previously, we believed the agency needed a test result from an intact or unopened package because of the possibility of cross-contamination. More than 1 million pounds of ground beef were recently recalled as a result of this change in our recall procedures. We are examining our training and staffing patterns to ensure that inspection program personnel and supervisors are doing their jobs correctly, that they are held accountable, and that they have appropriate workloads and supervision. We have implemented a number of key initiatives targeted to federally-inspected plants that produce raw beef products. FSIS determined that these steps were needed to ensure that inspection program personnel and the industry fully understand the nature of the challenge presented by E. coli O157: H7. The agency is ensuring that suppliers, processors, and FSIS inspection personnel, will be able to identify an emerging problem as early as possible to prevent contaminated product from entering commerce. Since September 28, 2007, FSIS inspection program personnel have been sending E. coli...
